FROM : Chief, DDI Management Staff

SUBJECT : Release of Classified Information to Contractors

1. The DDI Management Staff position concerning the interpretation of subject problem and of reference (2), para 1.b., is that CRS should release classified information to a designated individual (who may or may not be a contractor) of another Intelligence Community agency when that agency's senior intelligence officer or his designee seeks release of the information. That agency may then decide whether to release the information to its contractors.

2. This interpretation applies only to other Intelligence Community agencies.

3. Of course CRS should then comply with reference (2) para 1.c. concerning the record keeping of intelligence material that is released.
